

NATIVE HAWAIIAN ISSUES AND TRENDS SURVEY

OHA is conducting research in March to inquire about your perspectives on the issues and trends that are facing Native Hawaiians in 2009, and will have impact in the years ahead. "By identifying the significant issues facing Native Hawaiians in the upcoming years, OHA will have a more meaningful and measurable impact upon the Native Hawaiian community," said Clyde W. Nāmu'o, OHA Administrator. Here is a survey for you to take and return before March 18. You may also be contacted and asked to participate in a phone survey. If you are, please take the time to participate in the survey. You may also participate in the survey online at www.oha.org/survey. Your kōkua and mana'o will be greatly appreciated. The issues you identify will prepare OHA to successfully navigate and champion the right courses ensuring a stronger and united foundation for Native Hawaiians to stand upon.
