

Kupe'e with Kaliko Kaleohano

Who: kupe'e shells as personal adornment.

What: elusive Hawaiian kupe'e

When: November 26th, 2016
8 am to 3 pm refreshments included

Where: TBA

Hele mai – let's talk story and do a project with the elusive Hawaii kupe'e (nerite shells can be found worldwide). Life cycle, sustainability, ocean stewardship and important to a healthy ocean.

Hawaiians have always prized kupe'e first as a food source and then used in personal adornment.

Depending on availability, we may have some to taste as well as many to make project with. Kits $15 for earrings, $35 bracelets $150 (choker 20 inch) $250 (30 inch)
